RE: PAUL SUCHECKI

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Mr. Paul Suchecki is interested in teaching at your institution. Mr. Suchecki brings an interesting, varied and appropriate background to the teaching of television production, film production, writing for television and film and television news production. His undergraduate work at Harvard puts him in a very small class of people. He has also had extensive experience as a freelance writer/producer, most recently producing a sweeps series for a local Los Angeles television station. Paul is a very bright and hardworking instructor who invests of himself in his students. While teaching a basic television studio class here at Pasadena City College Paul went out of his way to arrange various field trips for his classes to Los Angeles area studios to witness professional tapings of situation comedies and news programs. Paul also brings an unusual comprehension of video technology, something that I've found is rare in production instructors.

In short, I think you should look closely at Paul Suchecki and seriously consider him for any media-oriented teaching assignments you may have.

Please feel free to call me if you have any questions regarding Paul Suchecki's candidacy.

Very truly yours,

Dr. Michael Bloebaum
